Qualitative Risk Assessment

LOW MEDIUM HIGH

Our risk assessment reflects common challenges to branded drugs, including competition from generics, pricing restraints, and R&D related risks. ABBV is also heavily reliant on one drug -- Humira -- which currently accounts for about 50% of sales. We also note that key cholesterol regulation and HIV franchises face generic competition. On the plus side, we think ABBV's robust R&D pipeline, which includes new treatments for hepatitis C, cancer, Parkinson's disease and other conditions, augurs well for long-term growth.

Highlights

- We expect sales in 2013 to modestly surpass the pro forma $18.4 billion of 2012. The gains should largely reflect robust sales of Humira for rheumatoid arthritis, helped by higher prices, greater penetration of emerging markets, and new indications. We also see higher sales for Synthroid, AndroGel and Synagis, as well as contributions from new launches, including Duopa for Parkinson's disease. However, we expect generic erosion in the Tricor/Trilipix and Niaspan lipid-lowering lines. Niaspan sales are also expected to be impacted by recent negative clinical data.
- We look for gross margins in 2013 to compare favorably with the pro forma 75% of 2012, helped by higher pricing, and supply chain and manufacturing efficiencies. However, we forecast increased SG&A spending, and sharply higher non-operating expenses.
- After a projected rise in the effective tax rate to 22%, from a pro forma 7.9% in 2012, we see EPS falling to $3.12 in 2013, from a pro forma $3.35 in 2012. Boosted by firmer top-line growth, we see EPS rebounding to $3.30 in 2014.

Investment Rationale/Risk

- Created through the January 2013 spin-off of the drug division of Abbott Laboratories, ABBV is somewhat unique among its peers in that about half of its sales are derived from one product -- Humira, whose U.S. patent expires in late 2016. Still, we think the absence of a generic biologic approval process at the FDA contributes to a high entry barrier against generics. With respect to other ABBV drugs, we see generics impacting many of them through 2015. On the plus side, we see significant potential for its R&D pipeline, especially new treatments for hepatitis C, Parkinson's and cancer.
- Risks to our recommendation and target price include possible sooner-than-expected generic competition for ABBV drugs, and failure to successfully deliver on ABBV's R&D pipeline.
- Our 12-month target price of $53 applies a premium-to-peers multiple of 16X to our $3.30 EPS estimate for 2014, which believe is warranted by strong pipeline prospects. The $1.60 annual dividend currently yields 3.5%. We think ABBV's $7.5 billion of cash and investments enables it to pursue accretive acquisitions and make stock repurchases.

AbbVie Inc

Business Summary May 24, 2013

CORPORATE OVERVIEW. AbbVie Inc. is a global research-based pharmaceuticals business that emerged as a separate company following its spin-off from Abbott Laboratories to Abbott shareholders on a share-for-share basis on January 1, 2013. Pro forma revenues of about $18.4 billion in 2012 were divided as follows: Humira 50%, virology 12%, metabolic/hormonal 11%, dyslipidemia products 7%, endocrinology 5%, and all other 15%. By geographic region, 2012 sales broke down: U.S. 57%, European Union (EU) 19%, Japan 4%, and all other 20%.

AbbVie's most important product is Humira, an injectable biologic TNF (tumor necrosis factor) blocker treatment for rheumatoid arthritis (RA) and similar conditions, with sales of $9.3 billion in 2012, up from $7.9 billion in 2011. We estimate that Humira accounts for more than half of the global prescription pharmaceuticals market for rheumatoid arthritis. Besides moderate to severe RA in adults, Humira is also approved for eight other uses, including juvenile idiopathic arthritis, plaque psoriasis, psoriatic arthritis, ankylosing spondylitis, ulcerative colitis, Crohn's disease in adults, juvenile Crohn's disease and axial spondyloarthritis.

Humira's U.S. composition of matter patent is expected to expire at the end of 2016, with its equivalent European Union patent set to expire in most EU countries in April 2018. Competitors in the rheumatoid arthritis market include Remicade (marketed by Johnson & Johnson), Simponi (Johnson & Johnson) and Enbrel (Pfizer).

Dyslipidemia products comprise treatments for high cholesterol and/or high triglycerides such as Tricor and Trilipix fibric acid derivatives (sales of $1.1 billion in 2012), Niaspan extended release niacin ($911 million), and Simcor, which is a combination of Niaspan and simvastatin. Metabolic/hormonal products include Synthroid treatment for hypothyroidism ($551 million), and AndroGel testosterone replacement ($1.2 billion). Virology products comprise primarily Kaletra and Norvir HIV treatments. Lupron for prostate cancer ($800 million) is ABBV's key endocrinology drug. Synagis for respiratory syncytial virus is marketed outside of the U.S.

CORPORATE STRATEGY. AbbVie's strategic objectives include expanding Humira's sales through greater penetration of emerging markets, increased emphasis on earlier diagnosis of autoimmune patients, and new indications. ABBV also plans to advance its R&D pipeline through internal development or through collaborations and licensing agreements. From 2013 through 2016, the company plans to launch five significant new products. The company also plans to maximize efficiency by streamlining the supply chain and optimizing residual value when products near the end of exclusivity.

PIPELINE. AbbVie has an R&D pipeline of some 20 compounds or indications in Phase II or Phase III development across a fairly wide spectrum, including immunology, renal care, hepatitis C, women's health, oncology, multiple sclerosis, and Parkinson's and Alzheimer's diseases. From 2013 through 2016, AbbVie anticipates new product launches, including: an interferon-free regimen for the treatment of HCV; a levodopa-carbidopa intestinal gel (LCIG) in the U.S. for advanced Parkinson's disease; elotuzumab, a humanized monoclonal antibody for the treatment of multiple myeloma; daclizumab, a monoclonal antibody for the treatment of multiple sclerosis; ABT-199, a next-generation bcl-2 inhibitor in development for chronic lymphocytic leukemia; and new indications for Humira.

In 2013, the company expects to initiate several Phase III programs including atrasentan for diabetic kidney disease and ABT-199 in chronic lymphocytic leukemia (CLL). Additionally, AbbVie is planning Phase IIB starts for: elagolix in uterine fibroids; work on a partnered JAK1 inhibitor for rheumatoid arthritis (RA); BT-061 for RA; and ABT-719 for acute kidney injury associated with major cardiac and other surgeries. Finally, in 2013 or early 2014, the company intends to present data from a number of key development programs, including its rapidly advancing HCV program, oncology, renal disease, immunology and Alzheimer's disease.

MARKET PROFILE. The dollar value of the global drug market is projected to grow at a CAGR (compound annual growth rate) of 3%-6% over the 2012-2016 period, according to forecasts made by IMS Health. The key driver should be emerging markets, whose aggregate sales (17 countries) should advance at a CAGR of 12%-15% over the same period. Growth in developing markets is being spurred by rising standards of living and growing government spending on health care. However, IMS forecasts declining trends in Europe, with combined drug spending for five major European markets projected to decline at a CAGR of 1%-2% over 2012-2016. On the other hand, spending in the U.S. was forecast to grow at a CAGR of 1%-4% over the same period.

FINANCIAL TRENDS. As of March 30, 2013, ABBV had pro forma cash and investments of about $7.5 billion, and long-term debt of $14.6 billion. ABBV also has a $2.0 billion five-year credit facility. We expect ABBV to use its financial resources for disciplined and targeted licensing deals and acquisitions, as well as for share repurchases. In late April 2013, ABBV reaffirmed adjusted EPS guidance for 2013 in the $3.03-$3.13 range.

Sub-Industry Outlook

Our fundamental outlook for the pharmaceuticals sub-industry for the next 12 months is neutral. Although the sector continues to face top-line pressure from patent expirations on many top-selling drugs, as well as from foreign exchange fluctuations, we believe overall industry profits should hold up relatively well, helped by expanding sales of new innovative drug therapies and margin improvements accruing from cost restructurings and merger synergies. EPS comparisons should also benefit from common share buybacks.

While we see new health care reform legislation continuing to negatively affect industry profitability, we see benefits accruing from significant expansion of the market stemming from new coverage provided to up to 32 million currently uninsured Americans starting in 2014. We favor the shares of firms with well defined growth prospects and generous dividend yields, as we believe they should perform relatively well over the coming quarters.

Despite near-term effects from patent expirations and regulatory pressures on drug pricing, we still think long-term prospects for the sector remain favorable. Pharmaceuticals remains one of the widest-margin U.S. industries, with prospects enhanced by demographic growth in the elderly (which account for about 33% of industry sales) and new drugs stemming from discoveries in genomics and biotechnology. We expect FDA approvals of new molecular entities in 2013 to approach or possibly match the near record 39 approvals the agency cleared in 2012.

Year to date through May 24, the S&P Pharmaceuticals Index was up 21.0%, versus a 15.7% rise in the S&P 1500 Composite Index. We expect prospects for the generic/specialty drug sector to remain favorable. We see a large number of major drugs losing patent protection over the next few years, providing significant opportunities for this group. We favor companies with rich generic pipelines, especially those with first-to-file generics with the potential for 180 days of marketing exclusivity, and competence in litigating complex patent issues.

S&P Analyst Research Notes and other Company NewsMay 23, 2013

12:11 pm ET ... S&P REITERATES BUY OPINION ON SHARES OF ABBVIE (ABBV 46.63*): We raise our target price by $3 to $53, based on our enhanced valuation of ABBV's key Humira rheumatoid arthritis drug, and its advancing pipeline. We lift our '14 EPS estimate $0.10 to $3.30. Boosted by several new approvals last year, plus additional planned indications and greater penetration of foreign markets, we expect Humira sales to expand to over $14B by '16, from $9.3B in '12. On the R&D front, we still see ABBV leading the pack with its new class of breakthrough hepatitis C drugs, while continuing to advance other pipeline drugs. The $1.60 dividend yields 3.4%. /H. Saftlas

April 26, 2013

12:05 pm ET ... S&P REITERATES BUY OPINION ON SHARES OF ABBVIE (ABBV 45.35*): We are raising our target price by $7, to $50, based on our enhanced valuations of ABBV's key Humira rheumatoid arthritis drug and advancing R&D pipeline. Boosted by new indications, Q1 sales of Humira rose 16% to $2.2B, with U.S. sales up 24%. On the R&D front, we see ABBV leading the pack with its new class of breakthrough hepatitis C drugs, which should be first to market in 2015. We also see promising new treatments for Parkinson's disease, leukemia, endometriosis and other conditions in ABBV's late stage pipeline. The $1.60 dividend yields 3.6%. /H. Saftlas

March 6, 2013

(ABBV 37.51*): We are raising our target price by $3, to $43, based on our enhanced valuations of ABBV's key Humira rheumatoid arthritis drug, and the R&D pipeline. In our opinion, sales of Humira should continue to grow through the end of the decade, helped by new indications and expansion in emerging markets. With respect to the pipeline, we see multi-billion dollar sales potential for ABBV's new hepatitis C drugs, which should be first to the market in 2015. Other positives include a 4.3% dividend yield, a $1.5B buyback program, and new business development. /H. Saftlas

February 8, 2013

10:53 am ET ... S&P MAINTAINS BUY OPINION ON SHARES OF NEUROCRINE BIOSCIENCES (NBIX 10.52*): We raise our NPV-based target price by $2 to $13 on an enhanced pipeline outlook. Q4 EPS of $0.14, vs. $0.02, beats our last published Capital IQ consensus estimate of $0.08 loss, which we attribute to $13M in recognized collaborative revenues. We are encouraged by partner AbbVie's (ABBV 36, Hold) advancement of elagolix to Phase IIb study for uterine fibroids, and we expect Phase IIb data for internal VMAT2 inhibitor for tardive dyskinesia near mid-'13. With $130M cash expected at '13 end, we view NBIX as well funded, and we anticipate receipt of milestone payments in '14. /S.Silver

January 30, 2013

TH A HOLD OPINION (ABBV 37.34*): This spin-off from Abbott Laboratories (ABT 33*) ranks among the world's leading drugmakers. Still, we note that some 45% of sales comes from one drug- Humira, a rheumatoid arthritis treatment whose patent expires in 2016. We also see generics impacting ABBV's lipid lowering and HIV franchises. On the plus side, we like ABBV's robust pipeline, which we think has promising therapies for hepatitis C, Parkinson's disease and cancer. Our target price of $40 applies a modest premium-to-peers P/E of 12.8X to our 2013 EPS estimate of $3.12. The $1.60 dividend provides a 4.3% yield. /H. Saftlas

January 30, 2013

BBV 37.02*): We keep our 2013 $3.12 operating EPS estimate, near the upper end of ABBV's new $3.03-$3.13 guidance provided today. Our $40 target price applies a modest premium to peers' 12.8X P/E to our 2013 forecast. We reiterate our modest sales growth projection for 2013, from $18B in 2012, with low-teens growth in Humira, and a 5% gain for Synthroid, more than offsetting steep generic erosion in Tricor/Trilipix. We like ABBV's 11 project Phase 3 pipeline, but remain uncertain in its ability to offset generic losses. We think the $1.60 dividend provides some support for the stock. /H. Saftlas

January 23, 2013

12:03 pm ET ... S&P REITERATES HOLD OPINION ON SHARES OF ABBOTT LABORATORIES (ABT 32.88*): We maintain our target price of $36, and our 2013 operating EPS estimate of $2.00, near the midpoint of ABT's new $1.98-$2.04 guidance range. Q4 EPS of $1.51, vs. $1.45, was $0.01 below our forecast. While sales rose 4.4%, we attribute most of the gain to strength in drugs such as Humira that are now booked by recently spun-off Abbvie (ABBV 37, NR). For 2013, we see mid-single top line growth, helped by new products such as Absorb vascular scaffold and MitraClip valve repair system, as well as by greater penetration of emerging markets. The dividend presently yields 1.7%. /H. Saftlas

05:44 pm ET ... S&P DOWNGRADES OPINION ON SHARES OF ABBOTT LABORATORIES TO HOLD FROM BUY (ABT 33.37*): We are reducing our 12-month target price by $40, to $36, to reflect the recent spin-off of the company's research-based pharmaceuticals business as shares of a new publicly traded firm called AbbVie, Inc. (ABBV 34, NR). Our new target price applies a premium-to-peers P/E multiple of 18X to our new $2.00 EPS estimate for 2013 (versus our prior pre-spinoff estimate of $5.55). While we view ABT as well positioned in diversified health care products markets, we think many of those markets are relatively mature, with future EPS growth likely coming largely from margin expansion. /H. Glossary

S&P STARS

Since January 1, 1987, S&P Capital IQ Equity Research has ranked a universe of U.S. common stocks, ADRs (American Depositary Receipts), and ADSs (American Depositary Shares) based on a given equity's potential for future performance. Similarly, S&P Capital IQ Equity Research has used STARS® methodology to rank Asian and European equities since June 30, 2002. Under proprietary STARS (STock Appreciation Ranking System), S&P equity analysts rank equities according to their individual forecast of an equity's future total return potential versus the expected total return of a relevant benchmark (e.g., a regional index (S&P Asia 50 Index, S&P Europe 350® Index or S&P 500® Index)), based on a 12-month time horizon. STARS was designed to meet the needs of investors looking to put their investment decisions in perspective. Data used to assist in determining the STARS ranking may be the result of the analyst's own models as well as internal proprietary models resulting from dynamic data inputs.

S&P Quality Ranking

Growth and stability of earnings and dividends are deemed key elements in establishing S&P's earnings and dividend rankings for common stocks, which are designed to encapsulate the nature of this record in a single symbol. It should be noted, however, that the process also takes into consideration certain adjustments and modifications deemed desirable in establishing such rankings. The final score for each stock is measured against a scoring matrix determined by analysis of the scores of a large and representative sample of stocks. The range of scores in the array of this sample has been aligned with the following ladder of rankings:

A+ Highest	B- Below Average
A High	C Lower
A- Above Average	D Lowest
B+ Average	NR In Reorganization
B Below Average

S&P Issuer Credit Rating

A Standard & Poor's Issuer Credit Rating is a current opinion of an obligor's overall financial capacity (its creditworthiness) to pay its financial obligations. This opinion focuses on the obligor's capacity and willingness to meet its financial commitments as they come due. It does not apply to any specific financial obligation, as it does not take into account the nature of and provisions of the obligation, its standing in bankruptcy or liquidation, statutory preferences, or the legality and enforceability of the obligation. In addition, it does not take into account the creditworthiness of the guarantors, insurers, or other forms of credit enhancement on the obligation.

S&P Capital IQ EPS Estimates

S&P Capital IQ earnings per share (EPS) estimates reflect analyst projections of future EPS from continuing operations, and generally exclude various items that are viewed as special, non-recurring, or extraordinary. Also, S&P Capital IQ EPS estimates reflect either forecasts of S&P Capital IQ equity analysts; or, the consensus (average) EPS estimate, which are independently compiled by Capital IQ, a data provider to S&P Capital IQ Equity Research. Among the items typically excluded from EPS estimates are asset sale gains; impairment, restructuring or merger-related charges; legal and insurance settlements; in process research and development expenses; gains or losses on the extinguishment of debt; the cumulative effect of accounting changes; and earnings related to operations that have been classified by the company as discontinued. The inclusion of some items, such as stock option expense and recurring types of other charges, may vary, and depend on such factors as industry practice, analyst judgment, and the extent to which some types of data is disclosed by companies.

S&P Core Earnings

S&P Capital IQ Core Earnings is a uniform methodology for adjusting operating earnings by focusing on a company's after-tax earnings generated from its principal businesses. Included in the S&P Capital IQ definition are employee stock option grant expenses, pension costs, restructuring charges from ongoing operations, write-downs of depreciable or amortizable operating assets, purchased research and development, M&A related expenses and unrealized gains/losses from hedging activities. Excluded from the definition are pension gains, impairment of goodwill charges, gains or losses from asset sales, reversal of prior-year charges and provision from litigation or insurance settlements.

S&P 12 Month Target Price

The S&P Capital IQ equity analyst's projection of the market price a given security will command 12 months hence, based on a combination of intrinsic, relative, and private market valuation metrics, including S&P Fair Value.

Required Disclosures

In contrast to the qualitative STARS recommendations covered in this report, which are determined and assigned by S&P Capital IQ equity analysts, S&P Capital IQ ranks stocks in accordance with three other ranking methodologies: (a) S&P's Capital IQ's quantitative evaluations are derived from S&P Capital IQ's proprietary Fair Value quantitative ranking model. The Fair Value Ranking methodology is a relative ranking methodology. As a quantitative model, Fair Value relies on history and consensus estimates and does not introduce an element of subjectivity. (b) Global Markets Intelligence uses two different quantitative methodologies to determine recommendations for the Trade Detector research report. One methodology is based on a target price model, while the other methodology is based on four separate quantitative strategies. The STARS, quantitative evaluations and Trade Detector methodologies reflect different criteria, assumptions and analytical methods and may have differing recommendations.

About S&P Capital IQ's Distributors'

S&P Capital IQ's research reports (the "research reports") have been prepared and issued by S&P Capital IQ and/or one of its affiliates. In the United States, research reports are prepared by Standard & Poor's Investment Advisory Services LLC ("SPIAS") and issued by Standard & Poor's Financial Services LLC ("S&P"). SPIAS is authorized and regulated by the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission; in the United Kingdom, research reports are issued by McGraw-Hill Financial Research Europe Limited ("MHFRE"), which is authorized and regulated by the Financial Conduct Authority and trades as Standard & Poor's; in Hong Kong, research reports are issued by Standard & Poor's Investment Advisory Services (HK) Limited, which is regulated by the Hong Kong Securities Futures Commission; in Singapore, research reports are issued by McGraw-Hill Financial Singapore Pte. Limited ("MHFSPL"), which is regulated by the Monetary Authority of Singapore; in Malaysia, research reports are issued by Standard & Poor's Malaysia Sdn Bhd ("S&PM"), which is regulated by the Securities Commission of Malaysia; in Australia, research reports are issued by Standard & Poor's Information Services (Australia) Pty Ltd ("SPIS"), which is regulated by the Australian Securities & Investments Commission; in Japan, research reports are issued by McGraw-Hill Financial Japan KK, which is registered by Kanto Financial Bureau; and in South Korea, research reports are issued by SPIAS, which is also registered in South Korea with the Financial Supervisory Service (FSS) as a cross-border investment adviser.

S&P Capital IQ or an affiliate may license certain intellectual property or provide pricing or other services to, or otherwise have a financial interest in, certain issuers of securities, including exchange-traded investments whose investment objective is to substantially replicate the returns of a proprietary index of S&P Dow Jones Indices, such as the S&P 500. In cases where S&P Capital IQ or an affiliate is paid fees that are tied to the amount of assets that are invested in the fund or the volume of trading activity in the fund, investment in the fund will generally result in S&P Capital IQ or an affiliate receiving compensation in addition to the subscription fees or other compensation for services rendered by S&P Capital IQ. A reference to a particular investment or security by S&P Capital IQ and/or one of its affiliates is not a recommendation to buy, sell, or hold such investment or security, nor is it considered to be investment advice.

Indexes are unmanaged, statistical composites and their returns do not include payment of any sales charges or fees an investor would pay to purchase the securities they represent. Such costs would lower performance. It is not possible to invest directly in an index.

S&P Capital IQ and its affiliates provide a wide range of services to, or relating to, many organizations, including issuers of securities, investment advisers, broker-dealers, investment banks, other financial institutions and financial intermediaries, and accordingly may receive fees or other economic benefits from those organizations, including organizations whose securities or services they may recommend, rate, include in model portfolios, evaluate or otherwise address.
